EMPLOYMENT REPORT

Arizona Department of Economic Security, Research Administration

October 18, 2007

Education, Tourism Drive State's Economy in September; 28,500 Jobs Added

Arizona's seasonally adjusted unemployment rate was 3.3 percent in September. This represents a historic low figure for Arizona's jobless rate. Nationally, the seasonally adjusted unemployment rate was essentially unchanged at 4.7 percent.

Eight of 11 supersectors gained jobs, two had losses, and one remained flat. Four of 11 supersectors reached new records: professional and business services, educational and health services, other services, and government.

Similar to the loss experienced in August, the construction industry (-2,200) lost the largest number of jobs among the goods-producing industries. All reported sectors lost jobs with building construction down by 700 jobs, heavy construction pared 100 jobs, and specialty trades lost 1,400 jobs. All three of these major construction sectors have shown significant slowing, compared to a year earlier (see chart on page 2).

Government gained a seasonally expected 19,100 jobs, largely in state and local education, and reached a record level of 430,700. An above-average increase in August was offset by a lower- than-average gain in September. Local education increased by 14,600 jobs last month, while federal government lost 200 jobs.

Professional and business services continued to show strength with an above-average increase of 3,500 jobs in September, of which 77 percent were in the administrative and support and waste sector. Within this sector, employment services increased by 2,000, slightly more than expected.

Educational and health services posted a gain of 2,700 jobs to arrive at a record employment level -- 303,800. The majority of the job gains were in health care and social assistance.

Following typical (seasonal) losses that began in May, the leisure and hospitality sector added a larger-than-typical number of jobs in September (+4,000). Accommodation and food services had the largest sector gain (+3,700). The food services and drinking places subsector accounted for 3,100 of these jobs, which was well above its 10-year average gain for the month.

Financial activities was flat in September. Finance and insurance gained 100 jobs while real estate and rental and leasing pared 100. Overthe-year job growth in financial activities has slowed considerably over the past 12 months -- 0.8 percent this September versus 3.9 percent one year earlier.

Manufacturing experienced an increase of 200 jobs in September. Durable-goods manufacturing was up by 200 while nondurable-goods manufacturing remained flat. All durable sectors were unchanged with the exception of computers and electronics, which lost 100 jobs.

Trade, transportation and utilities added 500 jobs. Slowing in consumer spending is quite apparent because of losses in various sectors such as motor vehicle and parts dealers (-200), building material and garden equipment supply stores (-400), and general merchandise (-100). The clothing and clothing accessories stores, along with the furniture and home furnishings sectors, were flat in September. Retail trade had an unseasonal loss in September (-300). All sectors within transportation and warehousing reported gains.

Other services had a gain of 900 to reach a new record of 107,300 jobs.

Information lost 300 jobs in September, and revised figures for August decreased employment levels by an additional 100. The only reported sector for this industry, telecommunications, was flat last month.

tained its steady pattern of growth for the seventh consecutive month by adding 100 jobs.

In review, Arizona's unemployment rate was 3.3 percent in September.

While this represents a record low for Arizona's jobless rate, the economic slowdown and recent job losses will likely push this rate higher in the months ahead. Nevertheless, Arizona's unemployment rate has remained at 4 percent or lower since February. Meanwhile, Arizona's economy grew by a slightly lower-than-expected 28,500 jobs in September. Much of the monthly increase was due to the seasonal return of workers to education and tourism-related sectors. Despite a loss of more than 2,000 jobs in construction, Arizona's economy exhibited some vitality in September. Nonfarm em-

Under Titles VI and VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 (Title VI & VII), and the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990 (ADA), Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, and the Age Discrimination Act of 1975, the Department prohibits discrimination in admissions, programs, services, activities, or employment based on race, color, religion, sex, national origin, age, and disability. The Department must make a reasonable accommodation to allow a person with a disability to take part in a program, service or activity. For example, this means if necessary, the Department must provide sign language interpreters for people who are deaf, a wheelchair accessible location, or enlarged print materials. It also means that the Department will take any other reasonable action that allows you to take part in and understand a program or activity, including making reasonable changes to an activity. If you believe that you will not be able to understand or take part in a program or activity because of your disability, please let us know of your disability needs in advance if at all possible.
